We have a longstanding relationship with the Latter-Day Saints church, assisting them with the construction and renovation of their facilities throughout Iowa, as well as Illinois, Minnesota, and Missouri.

This new 24,500 s.f. house of worship in Iowa City also incorporated a social hall/gymnasium, kitchen serving area, numerous class room and office spaces, as well as the main worship space equipped with high tech satellite communications equipment.

The church has very stringent quality control standards and policies related to products manufactured in the U.S.A. We work closely with the church to ensure the contractors building these facilities meet the church's standards.
